I'm Back

It was day 12 as we were caught behind enemy lines. We were moving in to take out Prophet Regret. Our first objective is to take out Prophet Regret.

We got to the extraction zone and I gave my squad the mission briefing.

"All right, I'm sorry to say we lost Gunter and Spike. They always would put their lives on the line before someone else's. But anyway, we have to get on. Here's the briefing, we need to fight our way through this building, it'll be rough, but we'll get through it. We have to take the gondola and drive to the next tower and across through the submerged structures. That's the easy part. After, we need to get into the Main Temple and put an end to the sermons of Prophet Regret forever. Okay lets move."

" We've got Drones and Elites on the upper right. Snipers come here! While we take out the Drones and Elites, I want you two to take cover and take out the Jackal Snipers, on the other tower. There is also grunts so it should be easy. Alright get movin."

As we were in combat, I saw in the far off distance, a Covenant drop ship.

"We've got a drop ship coming up on the right, be ready." As it hovered over our position, it dropped two Hunters.

"They're Hunters, I need help. Snipers take these ugly beasts out." My squad of now five men were attacking these things with all our might.

"There not going down, get your plasma's ready. Ready-set-throw!" My squad threw all of the plasmas they had on the Hunters. They finally fell to the ground, and that was the end of them.

" Good job. I hate them things."

" Hey guys, were in luck. Look," said private Jensen.

As I looked above, I saw one of our Pelicans. It was deploying weapon capsules and a new squad of marines.

"Take all you need, get fresh ammo too." I grabbed a sniperâ€rifle just in case I needed it..

"We've got big trouble guys. Look, there's another tower FULL of Covenant," said one of the marines. I knew that the sniperâ€rifle would come in handy. We were still a long distance away, so I took cover, and started to pick them off.
